The project of connecting Hillsboro and Greenfield by an electric railway following the pikes by the way of Rainsboro as ventilated in the NEWS-HERALD last week, struck our people on the sunny side and we were tickled to think that our town should even be named in connection with a laudable enterprise even of a visionary character, but before we had time to call a meeting and jollify over our prospective benefits the Gazette came and it had another and very different project, to unite the two cities by water, putting side wheel steamers on Paint Creek and Rocky Fork to ply between the two places by way of the Point and Caves. This would leave us out and hence was not received with much favor by our people. But should the latter scheme ever materialize what is to hinder us from tapping their line at Barrett's Mills by an electric railway or by slackwater navigation up Panchon Run. In either case we would not only bring ourselves into direct communication with the principal cities of our county and avail ourselves of a novel mode of travel, but we might be the means of bringing into prominence and utility one of the finest mineral springs in the county, as it is situated on the banks of Panchon and would be accessible from either route. But while we are waiting further developments in these and other visionary schemes it would be well to give special attention to the necessary possible things that demand our best efforts as citizens.

Weak and Sickly

Tell Hood's Sarsaparilla Gave Him Strength and Health.

The following is from Mrs. Jacob Hawn, wife of Officer Hawn, who keeps a grocery store at 384 East Federal Street, Youngstown, O. "One of my twin boys, Willie, when 3 months old began to show signs of weakness. He ate but little, while his brother gained and was in good health all the time. The doctor did all he could. We feared we would lose Willie. He did not care to play and seemed to have little life. Four months ago we began giving him Hood's Sarsaparilla, and we are most happy in reporting great improvement. He is now heavier than his brother, has gained ten pounds, is in first rate health, is active, plays all the time, and can eat anything that a child of his age (2 1/2 years) can. We take pleasure in recommending Hood's Sarsaparilla."

MRS. EMMA HAWN.

"Mr. Hawn has purchased Hood's Sarsaparilla of me and has told me from time to time of how nicely it was working with his child. There is no doubt of the accuracy of the statement made above." C. F. McBRIDE, Druggist, Youngstown, Ohio.

We find that the date of the filing of said report was September 19th, 1892, and was within the time required by the statute.
